DETAILED ACTION

The indicated allowability of claims 27-30, 31, 36-38 is withdrawn in view of the reconsideration the newly discovered reference to Snyder (US 4840284). The rejections are made as follows.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

1. Claims 27-30, 36-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Matsui et al. (US 5896143) in view of Snyder (US 4840284).

Referring to claims 27, 36:

Matsui et al. discloses a spittoon (FIG. 15, element 30) for receiving ink spit from plural inkjet printheads (FIG. 15, element 81) movable across a printzone and into a serving region, comprising:

plural adjoining side walls (FIG. 15, element 30), and an upper edge (FIG. 16, element 30) which define a mouth sized to receive ink from only a single one of said plural printheads at a given time; and

Matsui et al. does not disclose a catch basin joining together a lower edge of each side wall to form a liquid containing structure, with the catch basin comprising a bottom wall and at least one tapered wall extending upwardly and outwardly from the bottom wall to join the lower edge of one of said plural side walls, wherein the catch basin includes a second tapered wall opposite said one tapered wall with the second tapered wall extending upwardly and outwardly from the bottom wall to join the lower edge of a second one of said plural side walls opposite said one of said plural side walls (Referring to claims 29, 37).

Snyder discloses a liquid tank having plural adjoining side walls (FIG. 2, element 32: The vertical wall), a bottom wall (FIG. 2, element 32: The wall on the bottom side), and at least two opposite tapered walls (FIG. 2, elements 24, 26) extending upwardly and outwardly from the bottom wall to join the lower edge of one of said plural side walls.

Therefore, it would have been obvious for one having ordinary skill in the art at the time invention was made to modify the spittoon disclosed by Matsui et al. to slope the bottom wall as disclosed by Snyder. The motivation for doing so would have been to provide a tank having a sloped bottom structure that presents a smooth interior surface as taught by Snyder (column 1, lines 32-36).

Referring to claims 28, 38: wherein said plural adjoining side walls are substantially upright (FIG. 15, element 30: The vertical walls).

Referring to claims 30, 38: wherein said plural adjoining side walls define said mouth and bottom with a substantially rectangular shape (FIG. 16, element 30).

2. Claims 31, 33-35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Matsui et al. (US 5896143) in view of Snyder (US 4840284) and Osborne et al. (US 5712668). (Note: For the rejections of claims 33-35, please see the rejection of claims 28-30).

Matsui et al. and Snyder discloses the claimed invention as discussed above except wherein the accumulating structure having a bottom wall with an area sized smaller than the mouth size.

Osborne et al. discloses a spittoon for receiving ink spit from a printhead, comprising: an ink spit receiving structure defining a mouth (FIG. 8: The upper edge of the tapered side walls defines the receiving ink mouth of the spittoon) to receive ink from the printhead (FIG. 8, element H) and an ink accumulating structure (FIG. 8: The bottom wall) coupled to receive ink from the ink spit receiving structure, the accumulating structure having a bottom wall with an area sized smaller than the mouth size (FIG. 8: The area of the bottom wall is smaller than the one of the mouth).

Therefore, it would have been obvious for one having ordinary skill in the art at the time invention was made to modify the spittoon disclosed by Matsui et al. in view of Snyder such as the area of the bottom wall is smaller than the mouth size as disclosed by Osborne et al. The motivation for doing so would have been to down size of the tank as a common technique well known in the art to save space.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 16-19 are allowed and claim 39 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Referring to claims 16-19: The reason for allowance was indicated in the previous office action.

Referring to claim 39: The reason for allowance is the same as the one regarding to claim 16.
